Dear Parent/Carer

Friday the 13th, it seems ominous that we are facing a number of computer issues on this date, although I am quite enjoying the emptiness of my email inbox – well at least a lack of new ones anyway. Thankfully, it has not affected us too much as it is good for the children to be away from screens and we still have lots of books to read from or write in!

An announcement from Ms Fehlberg, she has a new name, to bring consistency with her family she will now be known as Mrs Whitfield. I am sure it will only take a couple of years for me to get the hang of it!

We are working hard with the children to ensure everyone is reading every day, thank you to the very large majority of parents who are supporting us with this, the progress the children make in reading is in no small part down to you. On average 95% of children in school read every day, including weekends, at home. I continue to receive lots of postcards and letters from children requesting new books, some due to the wearing out of our current ones, but many are for the latest book in a series they have enjoyed.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that bikes should not be ridden on the school site. Due to the large number of small children around and about the school grounds we ask everyone to dismount at the gates. Please do help keep everyone safe and if you notice other parents or children ignoring this request, do remind them.

Colville Bake Off

I have cleared my diary for Monday to allow me to wear my tracksuit with the elastic waistband ready for tasting all of the delicious entries to this year's baking competition. I am looking forward to possibly having new winners after the departure of some of the more successful families recently. We will then be selling of all of the cakes, assuming Mr Watkins and I leave any, at the end of the day on Monday.
